RICHARD HENRY BOYD

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 24.—
Richard Henry Boyd, seventy-nine years old, founder of the National Baptist Publishing Board, which furnishes secular literature to negro Baptists over the entire country, and the leading negro publisher of the South, died here last night.

He was born a slave in Mississippi on March 15, 1843, and served through the Civil War with the men of the family that owned him. Unable to read or write at the age of twenty-one he assumed leadership among his denomination by hard study and application. Dr. Boyd published a daily newspaper in Nashville. DR. LEE BEN CLARK

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 24.—Dr. Lee Ben Clark, fifty-four years old, known in medical circles throughout the world by virtue of his writings on medical research, is dead in his home here to-day as the result of five weeks of illness, which followed a stroke of apoplexy. Dr. Clark inaugurated the glandular treatment for defective children. In 1921 he was awarded a fellowship in the American College of Physicians, and was made a member of the American Congress of Internal Medicine.
